

Discussion Leadership (15 points)—See course dashboard for assignments and dates

You and a partner will have one opportunity to lead class discussion of one week's assigned readings. This exercise will give you practice in working in teams, culling core themes from large texts, and articulating complicated ideas to diverse audiences. You should plan to meet with your partner in advance of our discussion to discuss the readings and devise discussion questions. I will meet with both of you following the discussion to assess your performance and to devise strategies for improvement. Contact me as soon as possible if you are unable to lead discussion on the date you've been assigned.
