The context is Terrorism

Under what circumstances would you:

1. Give up your right to resist being searched by the police?
2. Give up your right to resist a warrantless search of your car?
3. Give up your right to resist a warrantless search of your home?
4. Support warrantless wiretaps or email taps?
The context is Terrorism

5. Support the use of racial profiling?
6. Support the police targeting specific racial or ethnic groups with searches or even temporary custody?
The context is Terrorism

What are the implications of your answers?
The context is Terrorism

Fear of threat to the status quo when the status quo is valued leads to support for discriminatory practices against those groups seen as producing the threat.

- Who benefits from the status quo?
- Whose status is most threatened?
- How does the threat have to be?